Tutti work on show

The Tutti Visual Arts and Design Program will launch its exhibition Extensions this Thursday at the Bay Discovery Centre, Glenelg, as part of this year's SALA Festival. The exhibition will run until October 11 and feature work by young adults with intellectual and learning disabilities from the Tutti Visual Arts and Design Program. Tutti

representative Linda

Jacobssen said Tutti will also host an Open Studio on Monday, August 10, and Tuesday, August 11, at the Minda Campus studio. Open Studio is an opportunity for visitors to check out artwork and meet the artists, including Linda's son, Dougie, 23 (pictured). "I love it," Dougie says of being involved with the art program and the SALA Festival. Tutti Arts Manager Sharon Manning says being involved with SALA is a great way for the artists to gain recognition for their work. "For the artists it's a sense of pride and achievement to be able to display their work in the outside world," she says.
